

Acknowledgements

We would like to extend our sincerest gratitude and appreciation to the following individuals and organisations for their support and encouragement in putting together the Minority Report 2020.

Afghanistan

Civil Society and Human Rights Network (CSHRN) for providing resources, specifically Sayed Hussain Anosh, the Executive Director; Hassan Ali Faiz, Research Director; and Massoud Adrakhsh, Communication Officer, who shared their experience, and generously provided comments on the draft. Hassan Raha, Sibyl and Zaman Soltani for taking the time to review the report and sharing their views and opinions. Several experts, CSOs activists, and researchers, Afghan and foreign, for granting interviews and providing a great deal of information.

Bangladesh

The communities and individuals who helped and contributed to the report. The organisations consulted for the report were Bangladesh Dalit and Excluded Rights Movement (BDERM), Bangladesh Dalit Women Federation, Council of Minorities, Maulavibazar Cha Jonogosthi Adivasi Front, Uddipto Nari Unnayan Sangstha, Adivasi Parhishad and Jatiyo Adivasi Parishad. The individuals were Khalid Hossain, Joyonti Rabidas, Khokon Suiten Murmu, Shipon Rabidas, Tamanna Singh Baraik, Parimal Singh Baraik, Sunil Kumar Mridha, Uttam Kumar Bhakta and Moni Rani Das. Saleh d of Bandhu Social Welfare Society, and Sanjeeb Drong, General Secretary, Bangladesh Adivasi Forum for their review of the report.

Bhutan

The persons who have been very brave to talk about their religion, practice and current predicament as Christians in Bhutan. Vyas Chettri, who volunteered to carry out in-depth interviews with respondents, and in transcribing and coding interviews. Peer reviewers, Rabilal Dhakal, Lecturer, Royal Thimphu College, Thimphu, Bhutan, and Achyut Bhandari, Sharda Consultancy, Thimphu, Bhutan.

India

Several unnamed experts and activists for their insights, and two reviewers for their thoughtful comments.

Nepal

Bishnu Sapkota, Chief of Party, Innovations for Social Accountability, Cambodia, and Chandra D. Bhatta, Senior Programme Officer at Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung, Nepal, for reviewing the Nepal chapter. Members of the advisory committee, Mohna Ansari, Yam Bahadur Kisan, Youba Raj Luitel, and Sashi Adhikari. Dogendra Tumsa, statistician at Social Science Baha, for providing his expertise with primary data analysis. Respondents in the online survey for their important insights and opinions.

Pakistan

Sana Salman and Ajwa Nadeem.

Sri Lanka

Nida Admani for research assistance and drafting text for the sections on Shakthika Sathkumara, anti-Muslim riots/rhetoric, Niqab Ban in Sri Lanka and Ramzy Razeek. Neloufer de Mel, Professor of English at the University of Colombo, and Harini Amarasuriya, Senior Lecturer, Open University of Sri Lanka, who is now a Member of Parliament, for serving as reviewers. Sakuntala Kadirgamar for her comments.

Finally, a word of thanks to Mary Lawlor, Special Rapporteur on the Situation of Human Rights Defenders, for writing the foreword to this report; Sima Samar, Chairwoman of the Independent Afghanistan Human Rights Commission, and Imtiaz Alam, Secretary General of the South Asian Free Media Association for their valuable commentaries on the report; Poonam Joshi and Deanne Uyangoda for their feedback on the introduction; and Minority Rights Group International, London, and Shikha Dilawri, Naumana Suleman, and Ifra Asad for their support throughout the production of the report.

Acknowledgements

The South Asia Collective
October 2020